NOW, That's a Web-to-Print Advancement NowDocs Releases NowPrint 8.0

North Mankato, MN March 20, 2012 - NowDocs International, Inc., a worldwide leader in web-based solutions for the printing and graphic arts industries, announced the release of NowPrint 8.0, the latest version of the web-based job submission and print production software tool.

Wondering what the most exciting addition to NowPrint is? Without a doubt, Anonymous Shopping. This release is ideal for print providers who want to allow their customers, and potential customers, to shop, upload documents and get a quote for a job, by logging in as a guest.

"NowDocs is committed to delivering the most reliable and advanced Web-to-Print solution on the market. The 8.0 release features separate back-end improvements designed to improve and ensure a productive, positive user experience," said Sam Froese, President of NowDocs, a Taylor Corporation company.

NowPrint 8.0 also includes a number of additional improvements, streamlining document options.

- Updated binding options to display 3-ring binding in the Active Preview.
- Streamlined functionality for accurate calculations of impressions for multi-part paper, including NCR Form
- Updated all standard reports pages and Report View page for a new look, feel and usability.
- Restructured the XPIF and XPIF & CSV output types to provide more details which will improve automation for print processing. NowPrint 8.0 supports print facilities by providing the ability to set up output device types: PDF, XML, XPIF, JDF, and XPIF & CSV.
